

READING APPROVES
TERMS OF TREATY

Calls Wilson Best Interpreter of Fourteen Points.

LONDON, May 11.—The Earl of Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, on his return from New York on the Aquitania yesterday said that the Germans had no right to expect anything less in the peace terms.

"They must have known perfectly well," Lord Reading said, "that when they laid down their arms as a vanquished people they must submit to the terms that a just victor would claim."

"The Germans," he added, "could hardly expect to be received into the bosoms of our families."

Discussing the German attitude toward the treaty and the contention that it goes beyond President Wilson's "fourteen points," he said:

"The best answer is that President Wilson has accepted the proposals embodied in the treaty. The author of the 'fourteen points' is the best interpreter of them, and he has accepted the treaty."

Daniels Sails on Mount Vernon.

BREIT, May 11.—Secretary Daniels of the United States Navy is aboard the transport Mount Vernon, which departed from here yesterday for New York. The maritime prefect here bade Secretary Daniels farewell and godspeed when the transport sailed.
